Tells How Road Bond Issue, If Passed, Can Be Financed

Prominent Mt. Pleasant Township Resident Explains in Detail How Bond Rate Need Not be Over 4 Mills to Meet Interest and Eventual Redemption of the Issue; Interest in Coming Primary is High.

A prominent resident of Bonneauville, and one who believes that building the hard surface road through Mt. Pleasant township will be for the common good, this morning explained to The Gettysburg Times how the $45,000 bond issue for road purposes, to be accepted or rejected at next Tuesday's primary election, can be financed.

"We must suppose, of course, that the voters of the three districts comprising Mt. Pleasant township will pass the road loan of $45,000 next Tuesday," he started out. "After the bond issue for road purposes has been passed," he continued, "the township proposes to issue 30-year bonds.

"It is doubtful if we can borrow the $45,000 at an interest rate below 5 per cent, making the interest on our securities $2,250 annually. Now for the plan of meeting the interest and the eventual redemption of the bonds at the end of the 30-year period for which they will be issued.

Not Over 4 Mill Rate

"Although some people in the township have figured that it will be necessary to place a road bond tax of not less than 6 mills, it has been estimated, leaving generous calculations for exonerations and removals, that the mill rate for road purposes will be somewhere in the neighborhood of 3½ or 4 mills for the purposes of the projected improvements to be financed by the bond issue.

"Figuring at the rate of 3½ mills, the sum of $3,130 a year will be brought into the coffers of the county for road purposes. Under the present laws this money can be used for no other purpose than for roads or the payment of interest or eventual retirement of road bonds.

"Now if the interest on the bond issue is $2,250, figured at the rate of 5 per cent, and the tax for road purposes brings in $3,130 a year, the township can easily pay off the interest on its debt and have a snug $880 annually as a sinking fund for the eventual retirement of the issue. These balances placed in bank drawing cumulative interest over a period of 30 years will at the end of that time yield approximately $49,403, being more than enough to redeem the bond issue when it comes due in 1954."

Interest Is High

Interest in Mt. Pleasant township over the outcome of the balloting on the bond issue is at fever pitch, according to reports from various sections of that large township, and more voters than in many years are expected to attend the primary to express their opinion of the proposed road loan by means of the ballot.

Voters in the three voting precincts of Mt. Pleasant township will cast their ballots on the road loan on separate ballots. The use of separate ballots was necessitated by reason of the fact that some voters, who are undeclared in their political party affiliation, and who would not otherwise vote at the pramiry, may cast their ballot for the road loan, without voting for the candidates on either of the two major tickets.

Some Opposition Voiced

Opposition to the road loan is voiced in communications appearing in various of the county weeklies this week, the chief opposition coming from persons residing in Mt. Pleasant township, but who are closer to the Lincoln Highway than to the road through Bonneauville, which will be rebuilt if the loan passes. Part of Mt. Pleasant township is north of the Lincoln Highway, and voters in that section are said to be showing only apathy toward the road loan and the coming primary.

In the White Hall and Mount Rock sections of the township, although not directly on the road, opinion is favorable to the passage of the proposed bond issue, it is reported. The opinion has been expressed by a man interested in the building of the new road that not only persons living on it, but those who live north or south of it, and who use the road to go either to Hanover or to Gettysburg, will benefit materially by the increased valuation accruing to their farms.

The State highway department rejected the bid of the Souder Construction Company for the building of the Bonneauville road at a recent letting of contract, because it was said that Mt. Pleasant township was not in a position to finance its part of the cost. However, the proposed road loan is expected to easily take care of the township's share of the cost, amounting to one-fourth of the contract price. The State pays one-half and the county bears another fourth of the cost.

The bond issue of $45,000, it has been estimated, is 5.031 per cent of the assessed valuation of taxable property in Mt. Pleasant township, which was $894,455. The outside borrowing limit of the township is 7 per cent of its assessed valuation, which leaves almost two per cent to meet any emergency which might arise, it is shown.

114 CHICAGO BOYS TO VISIT FIELD

Trip Is Result Of Chance Meeting Between Vets and School Principal.

WERE HERE LAST JULY

Met at Culp's Hill and Journey East Is a Result; Harrisburg G. A. R. Vets to Accompany Them.

A chance meeting between two Harrisburg Civil War veterans and a Chicago High School professor on the battlefield here, July 2 of last year, has led to what will be a banner event in the lives of 114 youths of the midwest metropolis, who are to be brought east on a special train next week, and are to visit the National capital at Washington, after a tour of the battlefield.

It was on Culp's Hill here that F. H. Hantzman, commander of Harrisburg Post, No. 58, G. A. R., and Thomas Guthrie, chaplain of the same post, opened a conversation with Benjamin A. Polzin, principal of the Chicago Technical High School. All three were on a visit to the battlefield, and the stories that the two veterans repeated of the great battle here held the Westerner at attention for several hours.

Since that meeting last year Chaplain Guthrie has died, but Mr. Hantzman has accepted an invitation of Professor Polzin to accompany the party of schoolboys to the Gettysburg battlefield and portray in words to them some of his war experiences. There will be at least four of the Post's 58 members to go along, for the Chicago man's invitation was not limited concerning the veterans. Harry Weitzel, William H. Raysor, William Menear and J. H. Pugh, of Harrisburg, have already signified their intention of making the trip.

NIPS RUMORS THAT PLANT WILL CLOSE

A. R. Jones, Manager of Eagle Silk Mill, Says Outlook is Now Bright.

Rumors to the effect that the local branch of the Eagle Silk Comany was to close down permanently in the near future and that Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer, was negotiating for the purchase of the building after the silk-throwing apparatus was removed. were declared false and without foundation by A. R. Jones, manager of the local plant, this morning.

"We have been hard hit for the past five months," Mr. Jones explained, "and have been working with a reduced force on part time. In fact, the last three weeks, only foremen, forewomen and mechanics have been here. But starting Tuesday, we will have to take on more employes and from now the industry is expected to pick up since the market outlook is bright."

All sorts of rumors had been circulated about the local plant of the Eagle Silk Company, headquarters of which are at Shamokin. All were positive that the plant was going to close and that all of the girls and men employed there would be thrown out of employment. It was heard that the York Chain Company and Henry Ford were prospective purchasers of the building after the silk throwing machinery was removed.

EASTER WEATHER MAY STAY CLEAR

Present Cloudy Area Expected to be Carried Out to Sea, Making Room For Fair Weather.

While scattered groups of scudding clouds were predicted as the overhead condition for today, reports from the weather bureau, covering this section, call for increasing cloudiness for Easter, and it is indicated that there is even a possibility that new spring finery may be dampened by showers late Sunday.

It is stated, however, that much depends upon the speed with which the storm which has hovered over this section finds its way out to sea, as the clear weather which is following hard upon its heels is attempting to sweep in from the West.

The new togs with which Easter promenaders will deck themselves need not be hidden by coats and wraps, is the weather man's promise. For not much change of temperature, either for better or for worse, is predicted.

This latter prognostication precludes the possibility of the snow which numbers of pessimists have predicted for Easter. In spite of the warm weather, budding leaves and evidences of spring on every hand, weather prophets of the mountains have continued to declare that this section is due for one more snow, and that it will probably come on Easter.

Few of those who plan to saunter forth in all their new finery are taking stock in such predictions, it being felt that Spring can hardly relinquish the crown to Winter at this time of year, even for a day.

CHURCHES MARK EASTER SEASON

Special Services at All Places of Worship in Town Mark the Day; Sermons and Music Alike Are in Keeping With Spirit of Occasion.

Elaborate services will be the rule in churches of Gettysburg and the county on Easter Sunday, according to the announcements by the pastors. Sermons appropriate to the occasion are prepared, and in most cases the choir and Sunday school classes take a special part in programs of music, calculated to fit in with the Easter season.

Among those churches planning special features for Sunday's services is Trinity Reformed Church. Following the regular Sunday school class at 9.30 o'clock, the morning session will be marked by partaking of communion by the congregation at 10.30 Evening worship period also includes the communion service, starting at 7 o'clock, with a sermon on the subject "Challenges of the Empty Tomb."

Including among the special musical numbers which the choir has prepared for Sunday, will be "Fling Wide the Gates," from Stainer's Crucifixion. Trinity carries the Easter season over to Monday night, when the Church school will give its musical program at 7.30 o'clock. Following this service, the Church will give a reception to all new members received since the last Easter season.

Gettysburg M. E. Church

At the Methodist Church, reception of new members and baptisms will take place at the morning service at 10.30 o'clock. The feature of the Easter services, however, will be the cantata by the choir at 7.30 in the evening, when the production of "King of Glory" will take place. This cantata, according to those who have heard the rehearsals, is one of the most elaborate of cantatas, being almost of an oratorio nature. Solos, duets, quartets and choruses all have their place in the two-hour program.

On Easter Sunday the Sunday school classes, Ladies' Aid Society and the congregation in general will turn over to the building committee all funds available for the new Church. Work on construction of the building will be started this season, it is expected.

Gettysburg United Brethren

The Sacrament of the Lord's supper, reception of new members into the Church and a sermon on "The Resurrected Lord" are included on the program for morning services at the United Brethren Church, the Rev. F. L. Stine, pastor.

The Bible school of the Church will present an elaborate program before the congregation and visitors at 7.30 o'clock Sunday evening.

Mrs. Lewis Sprenkle, Fairfield R. 2, was admitted and Mrs. Norman Irvin and daughter, West Middle street, were discharged as patients from the Warner Hospital.

HOLIDAY SPIRIT WAS IN THE AIR

Easter Offerings on Every Mart of Trade Were Eagerly Sought After.

The Easter holiday spirit permeated Gettysburg and Gettysburgians today. On every hand the proximity of the Day of Resurrection was noticeable.

That Easter was at hand was brought to the attention of curb shoppers this morning, who found hucksters on hand with baskets of colored eggs, Easter flowers and Easter cakes and candies in super-abundance. Buying was brisk and the Easter offerings were quickly absorbed.

Throughout the morning, stores dealing in potted and cut flowers did a "land office" business, selling outright or taking orders for delivery later in the day. One dealer in flowers remarked that in no previous year had business been as brisk as this year. It was a common sight to see men and women hurrying along carrying hyacinths, tulips, lilies and other Easter flowers. Bunches of sweet peas and roses were also frequently seen in the arms of passersby.

Millinery stores, men's and women's furnishing stores and business places handling Easter candies, toys and "trimmin's" each were busy catering to their particular class of trade. On every mart of trade business seemed to be brisk, whether or not something seasonable was being offered. Even the marriage license business in the office of Luther C. Plank took a sharp trend upward.

Many rural folks seemed to be in town and cars from many different sections of the county were to be found parked for several blocks on each of the principal streets from Center Square.

DENBY DEFENDS AIM IN OIL LEASE

Assumes Full Responsibility For Initiating Policy Which Led to Contracts.

(By Associated Press.)

Adrian, Mich., April 19.—Full responsibility for initiation of the policy which resulted in the leasing of the naval oil reserves was assumed here Friday night by Edwin Denby, around whom raged a storm of criticism in the Senate before his retirement last month as Secretary of the Navy.

"Had I not taken the action I did to protect the interests of the navy in these reserves against the tremendous loss of drainage," he said in an address, "I would have been false to my trust and culpably negligent in the performance of my duty."

Replying to what he said had been an insinuation of collusion on his part in connection with the oil leases, Mr. Denby said he had never been talked to about the naval petroleum reserve situation before he entered the Cabinet by the President-elect or by any of his Cabinet or other advisers.

Denies Collusion

"My appointment was somewhat unexpected," he said, "and was not announced until about February 25. Therefore, there was no collusion as to any acts to be performed by me—although even that insinuation has been made.

"Shortly after taking office it was represented to me that drainage of the reserves was proceeding rapidly and offset wells were necessary. Believing the Department of the Interior was best qualified to handle for the navy its enormously valuable reserves, I turned to the Interior Department for advice. I then asked the Secretary of the Interior if he could not take over the administrative control of the naval petroleum reserves. Secretary Fall did not ask me. I asked him. I wanted to stop the squandering of an invaluable resource. Together, the Secretary of the Interior and I presented the matter to the President, and after he had given it careful study he decided to issue an Executive order."

800 TOURISTS RUSH GUARDS

Californians Held Up By Quarantine Allowed To Enter Arizona.

GOVERNOR TAKES ACTION

Lifts Ban After Rush in Which Starving Men and Women Are Repulsed by Fire Hose Weapons.

(By Associated Press.)

Phoenix, Arizona, April 19.—Governor Hunt, of Arizona, today lifted the foot and mouth disease blockade at Yuma in order to permit the passage into this state of approximately 800 motorists reported in a pitiful condition as a result of being held up on the California state line without camping equipment or sufficient food.

In a telegram to the officer in charge of the quarantine the Governor said he felt "it would be safe to have these people pass after a thorough inspection and good fumigation rather than have them rush the guard."

"I do not want to see any bloodshed, but we must use every precaution possible."

The situation assumed threatening proportions last night when some of the motorists sought to rush the guards on the Arizona line. Fire apparatus was driven up and the tourists gave way when fire hose was trained on them. No shots were fired although the guards were surrounded by several hundred persons.

ARIZONA TROOPS HALT AUTOISTS

Foot and Mouth Disease Quarantine Against California Enforced.

Phoenix, Ariz., April 19.—State troops have been ordered to Yuma to stop the advance of motorists coming from California in violation of the State's embargo against foot-and-mouth disease, it was announced at the Governor's office Friday night.

The troops will be sent on recommendation of the county attorney of Yuma county, who reported local authorities were unable to cope with the situation, according to the announcement.

Men and Machine Gun Sent

Adjutant-General Harris, acting on orders of Governor Hunt, ordered four National Guardsmen and one officer to proceed from Casa Grande, Arizona, to Yuma with one machine gun.

The men are members of Company D, and are under command of Lieutenant Jesse B. Hill. Four other guardsmen were ordered to proceed to Yuma from Phoenix.

Some of the motorists succeeded in getting on the bridge, but none has reached the Arizona side.

The Adjutant-General said he believed the eight troopers and Lieutenant Hill could handle the situation. "If more men are needed, they will be made available," he said.

More Than 700 Held Back At Yuma Bridge

SENATE PASSES ON IMMIGRATION

Adopts Measure 62-6; Extension to South America Is Defeated.

FIVE VARIATIONS SEEN

Early Adjustment of Differences in Conference Is Expected; 2 Per Cent of 1890 Census Basis of Regulation.

Washington, April 19.—The Immigration bill of 1924, carrying substantially the same provision relating to Asiatic exclusion and other important changes in basic policy recently approved by the House, was passed Friday night by the Senate by a vote of 62 to 6.

On the final rollcall, as upon every important test vote taken since the measure was first reported, the Senate registered its decision by a larger majority even than in the House, where the vote on passage was 322 to 71.

Weller Votes Against Bill

The six Senators opposing the bill in its amendment form on the last roll call were Chairman Colt, Rhode Island, and Weller, Maryland, Republicans, and Rayard, Delaware; Gerry, Rhode Island; King, Utah, and Walsh, Massachusetts, Democrats.

As it goes to conference, the new bill contains few changes which are expected to prolong discussion. Attention, however, has been called to the possibility of important changes being worked out there. Slight differences in phraseology exist between the House and Senate drafts in many sections, one of them the vital "Japanese exclusion" provision, and, while no evidence has been shown on either side of the Capitol of a disposition to recede in the slightest degree, 27 parliamentary observers called attention to the possibilities offered for modification in conference.

White House spokesmen declared President Coolidge had no comment to offer upon the Senate action, nor upon the situation which has grown out of the failure of Congress to accept the advice of the State Department against bringing the Japanese into the definitely excluded classes.

The Senate bill was described by its author, Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, as "even more restrictive than that passed by the House." Both measures adopt 2 per cent of the census of 1890 as the basis for fixing quotas, but the House bill permits certain non-quota classifications which are not included in that of the Senate. Among the exceptions are the children and other dependent relatives of citizens and skilled labor and families.

Five Points of Variance

Five points of variance with the House bill, which will be ironed out in conference, were pointed out to the Senate by Senator Reed. They are:

The system of vise certificates provided by the Senate instead of the "stamped passport" system approved by the House. The "mechanics and objects" are the same, Senator Reed explained.

The failure of the Senate to authorize any exception from quota limitations.

The deletion by the Senate of sections providing for supervision of alien seamen arriving at American ports.

The provision of the Senate for future operation of a national origin system of selection based upon the entire population of the United States, if Congress approves a survey and report on the subject made by the secretaries of Interior, Commerce and Labor.

The Simmons amendment, adopted by the Senate late Friday, which authorizes immigration authorities to give preference to farm-labor when any State certifies a shortage exists in that necessity.

MAN IS HELD IN BAUER MURDER

Movie Operator, When Grilled, Admits Having .25 Caliber Pistol.

New York, April 19.—Harry Hoffman, a motion-picture operator, who was arrested Thursday night and questioned for seven hours in connection with investigation of the murder on March 25 of Mrs. Maude Bauer, Friday was formally charged with the crime.

He pleaded not guilty to a charge of homicide, and was held without bail for further hearing Monday. The arraignment was made on a short affidavit, alleging that Hoffman shot and killed Mrs. Bauer "without premeditation and without justification." The statement said Russell Van Name, one of two boys who found Mrs. Bauer's body, had furnished information which led to Hoffman's arrest.

The accused told the police he had spent the afternoon of the murder in a Stapleton, Staten Island, motion picture theater, working on a projection machine. Mrs. Bauer was shot to death on a lonely road in Chelsen, Staten Island.

Police said Hoffman at first declared he never owned a .25-caliber pistol, but later admitted he had owned one and sent it to his brother, Albert, in the Bronx, four days after the crime. Albert, police said, declared he had received the pistol the day of the murder.

Hoffman, it was declared, admitted destroying his pistol holster after the crime, explaining to the police he had read of Mrs. Bauer's death and feared his possession of the pistol might cause suspicion to be directed against him.

REICH MAY ASK DELAY ON PLAN

Berlin Expected to Point to Nearness of Elections to Reichstag.

SOCIALISTS URGE MOVE

Nationalists, However, Scent French Plot in Quick Move on Reparations; "Blind Alley" Is Hinted At.

Berlin, April 19.—Just how soon the German Government will be able to submit a concrete program of the legislative and other official measures it proposes to enact in connection with its acceptance and execution of the reparation experts' proposal depends upon a variety of circumstances.

The unexpected promptness with which the Reparation Commission decided to invite Germany to give an immediate indication of the manner in which she proposes to put the new reparation plan into action found the Government entering upon a four-day Easter recess.

May Ask For Delay

Until the Marx-Stresemann Cabinet is in receipt of the official text of the commission's resolution it will not attempt actively to envisage the entire range of issues involved in the scheme. Inasmuch as the summons from the reparation body is apparently untimed, it is believed the Government will stress the obvious necessity of contemplating the relation of its legislative measures to the outcome of the forthcoming parliamentary elections.

The Nationalist newspapers are prompt to scent in the reparation board's speedy action an indication of "French dominance," while, on the other hand, they charge the Government with having blundered into a blind alley in that it made unconditional acceptance of the experts' report a basis of the parleys.

Demands Early Action

The Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts takes a different viewpoint, declaring that "the resolution of the Reparation Commission is the most important political event since the conclusion of peace." It reiterates its demands that the German Government proceed forthwith to carry out the experts' recommendations and advises that the new Reichstag elected May 4 be convoked immediately in order to give legislative approval to the Government measures. It pledges the undivided support of the Socialist party in the Reichstag for the proposals, the acceptance of which, it declares, initiates a fight against French imperialism.

Dr. Helfferich, Nationalist leader, asserts that if the proposals are put into execution they will constitute "a second Versailles" and the perpetuation of a policy of sanctions and extortions which Germany has been opposing for years.

The Tageblatt Friday voiced sharp objections to the proposal that Japan and Jugo-Slavia actively participate in the Reparation Commission, pointing out that such a procedure is at variance with the Treaty of Versailles and could only be adopted with the complete consent of Germany.

JOSEPH GREER and His DAUGHTER

by HENRY KITCHELL WEBSTER

COPYRIGHT by The BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

When he formed his company for the manufacture of airplane parts, he made her secretary of it and fixed her salary at six thousand a year. In every ramification of his business interests he gave her his whole confidence, which was something no one else, she was sure, shared with her, for he was naturally suspicious and secretive.

During the whole seven years, from the day when she'd first gone into his private office to the day of the directors' meeting that Henry Craven attended, she had never considered leaving Joe. She'd spoiled him. She'd endured much. She had occasionally flared up to match the red of her hair and driven some rebuking home truths into him. But, on the whole, she'd enjoyed herself enormously. There was a zest about the whole thing that made it more than a mere job, a sparkle of variety, and a spice, too, of danger.

It was facts, however, rather than appearances that she had to look out for. As regarded the latter, she could afford a superb indifference. She was a magnificently independent person in that there was no one in the world whose moral disapproval could affect adversely her economic status. She'd gone with Joe on many a business trip to Washington, New York, and elsewhere, and the Grundy aspect of such an adventure, or of her going to dine alone with him in his flat, never disturbed her in the least. A smile like the one which had so exercised the speculative faculties of Henry Craven at the board meeting was the only tribute that she ever paid to the Moloch of propriety.

CHAPTER II

The Better Half.

Joe invited her to such a dinner one night in May about a month after the directors' meeting, and within a few days of his return from a trip to the Northwest where he'd been engaged in settling the last details and letting the contracts for the construction of their flax factories.

Invitations of this sort weren't so very frequent, and they generally had a real occasion. He had something he wanted to talk with her about, he said. "Oh, it's got nothing to do with any of this." He smiled as he added on leaving her, "I'm going to surprise you, Jennie."

A dinner at Joe's flat, whatever its occasion, deserved to be treated as a party, so she went home a little early from the office—there wasn't so very much to do these days—and dressed in a leisurely and luxurious manner in a satin frock which she had bought, luckily, only the week before. Jennie candidly enjoyed dressing up, and one of her few grievances against the sort of life she led was that it offered so few opportunities for this indulgence.

The dinner was at seven-thirty, and it was still broad daylight when she parked her little coupe in the side street nearest Joe's doorway. In the doorway she found Joe's chauffeur waiting under his employer's orders for her to drive up so that he might take her car into the garage and bring it around again whenever she wanted it.

He was a prepossessing youngster who had taken this job on getting demobilized from the army a few weeks previously. The irregular hours and the touch of variety about it made it, Jennie supposed, less unattractive to him than most of the berths open to a man in his position. But he was too good, she thought, for this sort of thing—taking Joe's actresse on joy-rides in the small hours of the morning, and so on; and she made a mental note, as she spoke to him, of a resolution to persuade Joe to find something better for him to do. His name was George Burns.

She told him her car was all right where it was, and that when she was ready to go she wouldn't mind going out to it alone, so if this was to have been his only duty for the evening he might as well consider himself at liberty. He thanked her, but she guessed from his manner that he didn't intend to act upon her permission. In the same moment she realized, and she blushed a bright pink as it broke over her, that the boy was shocked. That he attributed—it must be that—a sinister interpretation to her visit. Once or twice he'd driven her home from the office when she'd worked late, and they'd got to be quite good friends. Tonight he seemed to see her in a new and rather lurid light.

In the elevator she decided she'd say nothing about the encounter to Joe, at least until she'd cooled down enough to laugh over it. But he, meeting her in the hall as the butler opened the door for her, had it all out of her in two minutes.

"Good Lord, Jennie! What's the matter with you?" he asked at sight of her.

And to her "Well, what is?" he answered. "You look—as if you'd just been kissed by a traveling man."

At that, she laughed and told him.

"That's a nice mess," he commented with a grin. "Here, give me your keys. And go and take off your cloak. You know the room, don't you? I'll be back in a minute. No, I don't blame him a bit. It's all your fault."

He had, it struck her, a rather thoughtful air when he joined her a few minutes later in the drawing-room. He stood for a moment a little way off, candidly regarding her before he spoke.

"You wear better-looking clothes than most of the women who have nothing to do but buy them. How do you manage it, Jennie?"

She felt that her new frock was vindicated, for it wasn't often he showed the slightest consciousness of what she wore.

"I happen to be the right size to wear models," she said. "That's the answer. It saves a lot of trouble."

"The right size and the right shape," he amended. "It's more than your clothes that looks good to me."

There was the same quality, oddly reflective for him, about his gesture, for as he finished speaking he came up and took her by both bare arms just above the elbow, gently enough, as if he merely meant to hold her there until the end of his train of thought.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR ECHOES

(By George W. Barbehenn)

Topic for Sunday, April 20: "Easter, A Time Of Joy"—I Corinthians 15:1-8, 51-55. (Sunrise prayer meeting suggested.)

Love came down at Christmas, Love all lovely, Love divine;
Love was born at Christmas; Star and Angels gave the sign.
Love shall be our token, Love be yours, and Love be mine;
Love to God and all men, Love for gift and plea and sign.

Has it ever occurred to you that our two great Christian festivals, Christmas and Easter, began in the darkness? It was to shepherds "keeping watch over their flocks by night" that the Christmas message came. It was "early, while it was yet dark," that the women came to the tomb and found it empty. Both times the great joy came shining out of the darkness.

The seekers at the tomb found angels there. That is one thing that Easter means to us—angels; life, not death; joy, not sorrow and tears. We can look at the tomb, of course, with hearts to sad that we see nothing but gloom and death, but, thank God, we can look at the tomb with eyes of faith and see angels and more than angels—the lost one.

Easter is the most significant of the Christian festivals. The lesson of Christmas is love's humility; the lesson of Easter is love's triumphant power. Christmas points to earth and time; Easter to heaven and eternity. Easter means a life after death. Easter stands for faith in a spiritual world. Easter means certainty of meeting loved ones gone before.

We think of bells at two holiday seasons—Christmas and Easter, the birth and resurrection, respectively, of our Lord. Surely these are the times above all others when the bells should ring—Christ is risen.

So sounds again the message that brought joy to sorrowing and grief-stricken hearts of those who had loved Him. It was indeed a joyous message. Poor Peter had denied Him, but to him a special message was sent—a message that sent a thrill of gladness through him.

To you and me this message comes. There is a victory over sin and death even for you in Him who gave and took His life again in victory over death.

Jesus, after His resurrection, appeared eleven times to His disciples. The one appearance was to the disciples at the Sea of Galilee where in the early morning they were in a boat fishing and Jesus appeared on the shore. "It is the Lord," said John.

Jesus asked Simon Peter three times the question: "Lovest thou Me?" We also hear that question today as we never heard it before. "Do you love your ease, your pleasure, your luxury, your gain more than Me?" And our answer should be: "In love of the blessed and risen Christ we can give up all that we count dear for Thy sake."

In John 20:20 we read: "Then were the disciples glad when they saw the Lord." Seeing Jesus has two results. The first is joy and the second is transformation.

In the book of Revelations we read: "They shall see His face." This beatific vision is waiting somewhere in the future for each one of us if we are Christ's,—for some farther off, for some nearer—perhaps nearer than we think.

On the first Christmas night a little company of shepherds saw the first shining of Jesus' face in this world. It was only a little baby face then in a manger. Now the glory streams over all lands. It is ours to help all men to see that glory.

Telling the story of the love of Jesus is one way of doing this, but that is not the only way. We will best do our part if we reproduce the beauty of that face in our own lives. Christ's feet are no longer sore, weary or bleeding, but all about us are His loved ones, His little ones. There are aching heads and tired feet that we can soothe.

Let the blessing of your thoughtful love fall first on your weary mother, your burdened father, your tempted brother. George MacDonald says, "If I can put one touch of a rosy sunset into the life of any man or woman I will feel that I have worked with God and I have not lived in vain."

To the Republicans of Adams and Franklin Counties

I learned Tuesday evening that there appeared in a Philadelphia newspaper, on Sunday last, a full page unsigned advertisement, urging you to support me as a "wet." This advertisement was published without my knowledge and its statements as to my position are unqualifiedly false. In 1907 as a member of the House of Representatives I voted to bring the local option bill out of committee. I have never had any political, or professional relations with the liquor trade, nor do I have any sympathy with those who violate the law. If nominated and elected, I will support the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment in Pennsylvania, without fear or favor. I defined my views clearly on these matters early in the campaign, in my answers to questions asked by the Anti-Saloon League and the Pennsylvania Association of Adult Bible Classes. I take this method of emphatically repudiating this unsought and unwarranted endorsement.

STINNES AND FORD

In more ways than one Hugo Stinnes carried into modern life the psychology of the feudal baron. Like those chieftains of an anarchic past, he paid lip tribute to the sovereignty of the state, but never hesitated to set the laws and edicts of his government at defiance when they ran counter to his own far-flung interests. Like the feudal baron, he believed that the unity of his family behind his wishes was more to be desired than the unity of the nation to which he gave nominal allegiance. "You are united to build," he said to his sons as he lay dying. "What I have gathered I consider merely as a foundation for the structure you, and those who come after you, will erect."

And, like the overlord of mediaeval times, who felt that he was a benefactor to his serfs by letting them keep for themselves a portion of the produce they raised on the manorial estates, Hugo Stinnes believed that his social duties were fulfilled when he gave jobs to thousands of men that they might work for his greater profit. Just like a feudal baron, he demanded that representatives of his retainers should march behind the cortege at his funeral.

This enormous concentration of hereditary power in the hands of individuals only nominally subject to the control of central government was the essential characteristic of the feudal system, and in the end the weakness which overthrew it.

The United States Senate should study the lesson of Hugo Stinnes well, for there is before it now a project which so far as legislation could accomplish it would give to a single American the opportunity to become an industrial autocrat with powers beyond those of which the German magnate died possessed. For a payment of five million dollars and a pledge to manufacture certain quantities of fixed nitrogen as a by-product, Muscle Shoals, on which the Government has already spent $106,000,000, is to be turned over to Henry Ford. The House has already voted for this incredible transaction, delivering into the hands of this man and his heirs for a century to come a greater potential source of power than Niagara Falls. President Coolidge is said to favor the idea. Only a feeling of public responsibility on the part of the Senate stands in the way of making it possible for Mr. Ford to become an autocrat of even greater grasp and authority than Hugo Stinnes ever was.

In the old days monarchs turned over territories lightly to their baronial followers, and awoke too late to realization of the dangerous rivals they had set up in their own demesnes. Yet no mediaeval king ever surrendered an empire as valuable, or surrendered it so lightly, as the Congress of the United States is proposing to abandon in the case of Muscle Shoals.

What says former Secretary of War Baker, under whom Muscle Shoals was planned as a mammoth military project?

To grant Muscle Shoals to any individual for 100 years grants to such individual the industrial dominance for that period of the whole southeastern portion of our country.

Old Raftsman Dies

HANOVER—Samuel Lockman died Thursday evening at 5:30 o'clock at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Wallet, 542 York street, from a complication of diseases. He was aged 81 years, 4 months and 28 days. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lockman. Mr. Lockman was one of the few surviving raftsmen of the Susquehanna, having worked on the river between Middletown and Havre-de-Grace and Port Deposit. Later in life he became a tanner. Five years prior to his retirement in 1913 he was tollgate keeper on the East Berlin and Hanover turnpike. He had been in poor health for three weeks being confined to bed since Friday. His wife, who was Miss Amanda Brodbeck before marriage, died about ten years ago. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. L. B. Wallet, Hanover; Mrs. William Trimmer, Roundtown; Mrs. George Emlet, Hanover; Harvey Lockman, York; Charles Lockman, Flagstaff, Arizona; two sisters, Mrs. Sevilla Bortner, York; Miss Solima Lockman, Carlisle; 13 grandchildren and four great grandchildren. The funeral will be held on Sunday at 9:30 a. m., at the house. Further services will be conducted at Mummert's meeting house. Burial will be made in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Miller—Spangler Wedding

SPRING GROVE—Miss Mary Mae Spangler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Spangler, East street, and Arthur Wessell Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Miller, Pittsburgh, were married Thursday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George W. Welsh, pastor of Mt. Zion Reformed church. Mrs. Henry Sowers, York, a close friend of the bride, who was to have sung "O Promise Me," was ill, and Miss Myrtle Brown sang "I Love You Truly," and played the wedding march from Lohengrin. The bride was attired in a nile green georgette gown and carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. She wore a silver band set with rhinestones as a headdress. The living room of the Spangler home was decorated in blue and white. The bridal pair left Thursday night by train for Pittsburgh, Cleveland and other points in the west. Following the wedding a reception was held at the Spangler home. Seventy-five persons attended. The bridegroom is a salesman employed by the Merritt Paint and Varnish company, Cleveland, Ohio. The bride is a stenographer and a graduate of Patrick's Business college, York. During the past few years she had been employed in a business office in Cleveland. They will return to this place after their wedding trip and expect to make this place their home for a few months.

Breaks Wrist In Accident

WELLSVILLE—Riding on a running board of a machine driven by Theodore Harman, aged about 18 years of near here, Jacob Knisely, Jr., 15 years, Dillsburg R. D., No. 4, was thrown off when the driver lost control of the machine and ran into a culvert, causing a fracture of the right wrist and other minor abrasions and contusions. Harman had in the car with him Miss Ruth Baker and the three were returning from the Dillsburg High School to their homes, when Harman is said to have been looking around instead of watching the road, and when the car started to swerve he recovered his poise too late to be able to right the car before it went into the culvert. Knisely was the only one injured. Knisely was taken to the office of Dr. H. B. Hetrick, where he received treatment. The car was damaged to the extent of a broken radiator, bent axle and broken windshield.

Just Folks
by Edgar A. Guest

AT THE END

When the swift hard race is run
And we face the setting sun,
When the last grim fight is won
And the goal is gained or lost,
Then I fancy we shall turn
Just to see and just to learn
What it was we fought to earn
And just what the struggle cost.

Then we'll chuckle at our pride
And the joys we thrust aside,
And the foolish things we tried
In our wish for worldly praise;
And the fancied slight which stings,
Or the thrills which glory brings,
Then will seem such trivial things,
Near the closing of our days.

We shall count our gains and see
Many a friend who used to be
Who'd have loved us still had we
But called him now and then;
We shall know the real worth
Of the gentler things of earth,
Of its beauty and its mirth,
And its fellowship with men.

Flash of stream and bloom of tree
And the music of the sea
More important then will be
Than the shine of yellow gold;
We shall learn the praise we sought,
And the goals for which we fought,
Were not really what we thought
In the strong, brave days of old.

Then we'll chuckle at our pride,
And we'll thrust our fame aside,
And we'll find our memories tied
To a few fond friends and true;
Then we'll talk of beauties flown
And the laughter we have known,
And the lasting joys we own,
Just as old men always do.

Hold Up Man Escapes

HAGERSTOWN—A man answering the description of the bandit who late Saturday night held up and robbed Herbert Cullison, a motorman for the Potomac-Edison Company, of $45 at Funkstown was in Funkstown Monday night. Residents of the town told Sheriff Duffey that a man wearing a corduroy suit and answering in detail the description of the bandit walked through the town and passed the spot where the hold-up was staged. The sheriff was in Funkstown but was unable to find any trace of the man. This is the only clue the authorities have obtained since the hold-up. Several residents have verified the statement that the man spent some time in Funkstown on the night of the robbery. Some told the Sheriff that he rode into Funkstown on the same car operated by Cullison several hours before the robbery was committed. Cullison does not remember seeing him at that time.

Engineer Is Killed In Cab

HAGERSTOWN — Struck on the head by an overhanging rock on the Western Maryland Railway Company's system at Town Creek, a small town near Cumberland, Tuesday evening, John J. Stinebaugh, 44 years old, an engineer, of 443 North Prospect street, this city, suffered injuries which resulted in his death at the Allegany County Hospital at 9 o'clock Tuesday night. Stinebaugh was operating an engine which was drawing a load of freight cars from this city to Cumberland. He was within a short distance of Cumberland when he leaned from the window of his cab to make an examination of the engine. As he did so his head struck a rock on one of the banks through which the train was being driven.

Valuable Property Sold

HAGERSTOWN—Auctioneer J. C. Snyder Tuesday sold at public sale in front of the Court House the Walker farm of 85 acres, a part of the Van Valkenberg estate, on the Kemp's Mill road, to Beniamin F. Wyand, at $89 per acre. The distillery property adjoining, also part of the same estate, was sold to Elmer F. Summers for $1355. Mr. Snyder also sold for Sheriff Duffey a small property at Samples Manor to Isaiah Gladdea, for $180. The R. J. Shine property on East Washington street was withdrawn at a bid of $22.000. Tuesday morning Auctioneer Snyder sold twenty-five shares of First National Bank stock at $44.75 per share.

Party Is Renamed

HAGERSTOWN—Candidates for the positions of Burgess and Commissioners of Williamsport were nominated for the second time by the Citizens Party Thursday night. The candidates are the same who represented the party at the last election which was called off when Chester Stottlemyer, representing himself as a challenger for the Citizens Party, refused to leave the polls. Stottlemyer walked into the polls a short time after they were opened and refused to leave. Mayor William J. Taylor then refused to permit the election to proceed. It was stopped after only a few votes were cast. The Legislature met and granted Williamsport permission to hold another election on April 28. In order to eliminate any possibility of the coming election being held in an illegal manner both parties have decided to renominate their candidates and the action of the Citizens Party was in line with this policy. The party elected the following candidates: M. F. Grower, for burgess; G. A. Miller, for assistant burgess; R. G. Middlekauff and Richard G. Hoffman, for commissioners (for two years); Henry Metzer, for commissioner, (one year).

What Do You Know About the "Bonus?"

The following letter was written to Chairman Green, of the Ways and Means Committee, by John Thomas Taylor, Vice Chairman of the National Legislative Committee of the American Legion.

My dear Judge:—

In the newspapers of November 12th, there appears a letter to you from the Treasury Department, containing recommendations for proposed legislation dealing with suggested tax reductions, but which is in fact a personal and direct attack upon the Soldiers' Adjusted Compensation Measure, which will, as heretofore, be considered by your Committee in the early days of the 68th Session of Congress.

This letter has brought to light the real issue, although this is not the issue which the Secretary intended to have raised when he made his letter public. That issue is simply this—

> Shall twenty-two thousand millionaires, men who profited greatly out of the war, have their income taxes further reduced by $85,000,000 a year;
> or
> Shall five million soldiers and their families be now paid the just debt owed them by the nation for five years?

This is the real issue which Mr. Mellon has brought up, although, in order to make the public agreeable to cutting surtaxes on net incomes between fifty thousand and one million a year, he has prepared a schedule which would also reduce the income tax of the average taxpayer.

Of course, Mr. Mellon knows that the Treasury Department does not enact income tax laws—this is the sole function of the Congress, and is initiated by the great Committee of which you are Chairman. Of course you know—as Mr. Mellon well calculated when he published his letter to you—that the statements he made are inaccurate, but were deliberately injected for the purpose of continuing his fight against the Soldiers' Adjusted Compensation Measure.

His statement that there can be no reduction in federal taxes if the Adjusted Compensation Bill becomes a law is absurd on the face of it, and on a parity with his miscalculations in government finances for three years. According to the figures prepared by the Treasury Department for the Senate Finance Committee, the Soldiers' Measure will cost $202,000,000 for the first three-year period, or an average of slightly more than $80,000,000 a year.

Through his inaccurate and misleading use of figures, Mr. Mellon has sought to make the public believe that the question up for consideration is whether fourteen million citizens may have their income taxes reduced, or whether the Soldiers' Adjusted Compensation can be paid. But out of his own mouth, and his own official statements, it is shown that these tax reductions which he schedules for the fourteen million taxpayers who are not millionaires, can be reduced exactly as he indicates, and the Adjusted Compensation Bill can be paid at same time. The real nub of the situation is the $85,000,000 a year which Mr. Mellon wants to again cut off the income taxes of the war millionaries, in addition to offering tax reductions to the average citizens.

The proposed cut of $85,000,000 a year for the millionaires will pay the Adjusted Compensation Bill year by year, although Mr. Mellon proposes tax reductions of $323,000,000 a year, or four times the sum need to pay it. You know this and Mr. Mellon knows it, so what can be his purpose in telling the public that $80,000,000 a year in payments for Adjusted Compensation, will prevent tax reductions of $323,000,000 a year, or four times that sum?

His purpose is of course apparent. He wants to again fool the people, he wants to get their backing, under misapprehension of the facts, for his plan to cut the big millionaires' taxes, so he is forced to include the little fellow in his tax reductions plans. Then, having included the little fellow, the ordinary tax-payer for once, he attempts to deceive the little tax-payer, the ordinary citizen, into thinking that he will not get his taxes cut if the honest and square thing is done by the Soldier.

Mr. Mellon has gotten the habit of allowing his zeal to overcome his mathematics when he issues statements opposing the Soldiers' Measure. His anxiety for the big financial interests and his desire to defeat Adjusted Compensation, has led him in the past to give the Congress and the President official statements, as a guide for their actions, concerning the country's financial condition, which he later had to admit to say the least were wholly inaccurate. However, he got them over as official statements at the time, and they did their work in spite of the fact they misrepresented the situation.

It is unpardonable for the Secretary to try to fool the nation into believing an untruth—that $80,000,000 taken from $323,000,000 leaves actually nothing at all. Yet, in his desire to defeat the Soldier Measure, he now attempts to again deceive the people (for of course he is not trying to deceive you), and make them think that $80,000,000 actually equals $323,000,000 instead of being only one-fourth of it.

Because of your long service on the Ways and Means Committee, you of course recall some of these official miscalculations of Mr. Mellon, for their history is officially recorded in the Congressional Record. Doubtless his error—or miscalculation, if you please—of $959,000,000 which he made in estimating last year's fiscal operations, when he advised the President to veto our measure is still fresh in your memory. This may have seemed a small error to a man who thinks in billions, but it was officially used as an argument for the veto of the Soldiers' Bill. Mr. Mellon has been lucky, seemingly, to have his errors on the same side of the ledger with his sentiments—it might have been embarrassing had his error of $959,000,000 been on the other side of the ledger, and to have thereby caused the President to sign the bill, instead of veto it.

You will recall another statement made by Mr. Mellon in this connection, which also proved to be inaccurate. He officially advised your Committee, in the winter of 1921-22, against favorably reporting the bill, giving as the chief reason for this official advice, that the fiscal year would end with a deficit. Your Committee must have had a hunch about the inaccuracy of Mr. Mellon's mathematics—for you reported the bill favorably, and a few months later, the year 1922 ended with a surplus of more than $300,000,000. Mr. Mellon's error in this case alone would have met the first three year's payments of your bill.

Again, when he advised the President to veto your bill, he said that the fiscal year 1924 would end with a deficit. He now states that it will end with a surplus of three hundred millions, for the purpose of cutting the taxes of millionaires. You may not realize it, but the official records of Congress show that in the past two years, Mr. Mellon's official miscalculations concerning Government finances total a greater sum than the entire amount the Adjusted Compensation Bill would cost if paid out in a lump sum. The records of Congress show that these official miscalculations were made in statements opposing the Soldiers' Measure.

It is really unfortunate that a high government official, occupying the position as head of the government's financial administration, will deliberately and officially, supply inaccurate and misleading statements to the Congress for its official use in drafting legislation.

In the past four years every possible bugaboo has been raised by the administration leaders to frighten Congress into the belief that the financial condition of the country was such that it could not carry out the expressed mandate of the people, and settle in an honorable way the debt admittedly and justly due the ex-service men. Time after time these figments of imagination have been destroyed by the actual conditions subsequently shown by the official facts. Mr. Mellon realizes that his inaccurate predictions of national poverty are no longer taken seriously by the country—they have been disproved too often.

Now being convinced that the public can no longer be deceived by such hallucinations, this new bait is thrown out that "there can be no reduction in taxes if the Soldiers' Adjusted Compensation Bill becomes a law."

We, of course, know that you will not be deceived by this false propaganda. The Members of your Committee know the actual facts in the case and are firmly convinced that the cause of the soldier is a just one. Your Committee believes in the Soldiers' Measure as it has been reported favorably three times, and passed by the House.

Notwithstanding this attempt to mislead you and the Members of your Committee, the American Legion understands and has full confidence that the Bill will be reported promptly by your Committee, and enacted into law during the early days of the coming session. From the beginning this has been inevitable legislation.

Very truly yours,

John Thomas Taylor, Vice Chairman,
NATIONAL LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF ADAMS COUNTY

BY

ALBERT J. LENTZ POST No. 202 AMERICAN LEGION

PROMISES vs. FACTS

Paralleling the platform upon which D. Edward Long seeks the votes of the Republicans of Adams and Franklin counties for re-nomination as State Senator, and in which he glibly promises tax reduction in many ways, his actual record of performance stands out in bold contrast.

In the last (1923) Session of the Legislature there were passed in the Senate 69 bills affecting taxation. Of these 69 bills, Senator Long voted for 65. Forty-six out of the 69 tax bills of the entire session became law, and of these 46, Senator Long voted for 45.

D. Edward Long's Platform

1. Reduction of local school taxes by securing larger state appropriations for public school purposes.

2. Reduction of township road taxes: (a) By securing larger state appropriations for "township road rewards." (b) By placing all state aid roads on the state highway system. (c) By putting additional township roads on the state highway system.

3. The repeal of the mercantile license tax.

4. The distribution of the gasoline tax money to the townships, boroughs and cities for road purposes in proportion to their respective mileage of highways and streets.

5. The repeal of laws authorizing the levying of "head" taxes, since such taxes are not being uniformly levied nor collected.

6. A more just and equitable distribution of the tax burdens on the basis of profits, earnings and ability to pay.

7. Law enforcement and the punishment of bootleggers in a manner not so much akin to a license tax, as is a mere fine.

8. Legislation that will more effectively control the manufacture and distribution of alcoholic liquors for legal uses.

[(I favor placing from thirty to fifty miles of township roads, in each county in my district, on the State Highway System.) This must be done with an "Omnibus" Road Bill.]

D. Edward Long's Record

Here are the figures showing how Mr. Long voted on tax measures as taken from the official Journal of the 1923 Session. A few of the more important tax measures which were supported by Senator Long are set forth:

Senator Long voted for Act. No. 122—"An Act relating to county rates and levies and township rates and levies" by removing the exemption of females from arrest and imprisonment for non-payment of taxes. By the powers of this law, each and every woman is required to pay taxes, but upon refusal may be arrested and placed in jail.

Senator Long voted for Act No. 363—"An Act providing for the imposition and collection of certain taxes upon the transfer of property passing from a decedent who was a resident of this Commonwealth at the time of his death, etc."

Senator Long voted for Act No. 318—"An Act imposing a State Tax on Liquid Fuels including all liquids ordinarily practically and commercially useable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power and all distillates of and condensates from petroleum, natural gas, coal, coal tar and vegetable ferments so useable to be paid by dealers, etc." This is the act which increases gasoline by one cent per gallon more than the previous law, both of which together is a two cent raise.

Senator Long voted for Act. No. 333—"An Act imposing an emergency profits tax for State purposes on the net income of certain corporations, joint-stock associations, limited partnerships and companies incorporated, organized or doing business in this Commonwealth, providing for the collection of such tax and prescribing penalties." While this act not only taxes the Corporations, etc., it may be assumed that each individual is affected.

Senator Long voted for Act No. 296—This is the Motor Vehicle Act, and it provides for the licensing of Motor Vehicles, the establishing of the large Motor Patrol which is very elaborate and costly, the additional tax of One Dollar ($1.00) for the Driver's or Operator's License, and the tax of Two Dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) for the Learner's Permit and Operator's License included. These are only a few among the many other provisions.

Senator Long voted for Act No. 230—This act is also very lengthy in Title, but it provides that, each and every person who desires to own a Motor Vehicle must pay Two Dollars and fifty cents ($2.50) including the affidavit, for a Title to be registered with the State Highway Department. Whereas, before, the same information was practically received through the Vendor and Vendee Statement.

Senator Long also voted for these:

The only tax measure which Senator Long voted against, and which became law, was Senate Bill No. 734 which was a joint resolution concerning the City of Philadelphia only. On all tax measures affecting rural Pennsylvania and raising taxes Senator Long voted "Yes."

SALARY MEASURES

The last Session of the Legislature was modest in the number of Salary Bills passed in comparison with former sessions, but Senator Long, is shown by the Legislative Record, to have supported twenty (20) out of twenty-one (21) of these salary bills which became law. This list does not include the Administrative Code. The bills listed below, which received Senator Long's support, include the increase of the salaries of various State and County Officers anywhere from $1.00 to $2,000.00 per year.

Act No. 212 is the only one of the above that Mr. Long voted against. This act provides for a Supplement to the Act of 1911 and effects Second Class Counties only.

TOWNSHIP ROADS

The paragraph in brackets appearing after Article Eight of Seantor Long's platform was taken from a letter to Republican men of Adams County under date of April 11, 1924. Here again, the parallel is significant. In the four years of Senator Long's service, during which by his own boast he enjoyed close relations with the head of the state administration in Harrisburg and the commissioner of highways, he has not succeeded in having A SINGLE FOOT added to the total mileage of state roads in Adams county.

In the light of this obvious record of insincerity—the cold, hard facts in the case,—is it possible that the voters of Adams county will cast their ballots in the Republican primary election next Tuesday, April 22, to send this same D. Edward Long, who has failed so miserably during his first term in the senate, back for another term of four years?

On the other hand, NORMAN L. BONBRAKE, a prominent Chambersburg attorney, who is Mr. Long's opponent in the Republican primary election for the senate nomination, comes before the electorate not with a lot of improbable promises—a lot of pledges it would be impossible to sustain in the lawmaking body of the state—but he promises to use his best efforts in representing the interests of this district. And, after all, what more can be expected of any representative of all the people. GO TO THE POLLS NEXT TUESDAY AND VOTE AS FOLLOWS:

SENATOR IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY 33d District (Vote for One)
Norman L. Bonbrake	Franklin Co.	X
D. Edward Long	Franklin Co.

PASTOR ESCAPES BOMB

Buffalo, April 19.—The Rev. L. E. H. Smith, pastor of a local Presbyterian church, and a dry crusader, escaped by a few minutes a bomb explosion which wrecked his home here early Friday. Mr. Smith recently had received a number of threatening letters.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear daughter, Naomi Burgner, who departed this life six years ago Sunday, April 20, 1918.

A place is vacant in our home that never can be filled, for this one we loved and cannot forget lies with the silent dead.

Oh, the memory of that evening when our Naomi passed away; our hearts were crushed with sorrow and many tears were shed.

She was too sweet for earth—the angels thought it best to take our dear Naomi with Jesus to rest.

Although you cannot speak and your dear face I cannot see, but this little token shows I still remember thee.—By her mother, Mrs. W. A. Criswell.

In loving remembrance of my dear daughter-in-law, Mazie Criswell, who departed this life two years ago March 10, 1922.

God saw you suffering here and opened wide the golden gate and called her across the silver stream where sweetest-flowers are ever.

Just across the silver stream she is waiting for us there. Forgotten by some you may be, but the grave that contains you is sacred to me. By her mother-in-law, Mrs. W. A. Criswell.

PLATFORM:

1. Reduction of local school taxes by securing larger state appropriations for public school purposes.
2. Reduction of township road taxes:
   (a) By securing larger state appropriations for "township road rewards."
   (b) By placing all state aid roads on the state highway system.
   (c) By putting additional township roads on the state highway system.
3. The repeal of the mercantile license tax.
4. The distribution of the gasoline tax money to the townships, boroughs and cities for road purposes in proportion to their respective mileage of highways and streets.

Chats With Your Gas Man

Because gas service is delivered to our customers through underground pipes, the problem of storing fuel is reduced to a minimum. Without such service, our customers would have to go into the fuel business themselves, cheapening their homes in attractiveness and value by stocking fuel for every lighting and heating operation.

Imagine the storage space required for such purposes! In individual homes the yard space where a garden blooms would be the location of piles of wood and coal. And as for our modern apartment and office buildings in large cities, it is almost impossible to visualize the terrible obstacles to be overcome by reason of a return to solid instead of gas fuel.

Without gas service, the modern burden bearer, the clock of civilzation would be set back at least a hundred years.

AFTER AN OPERATION

Mrs. Wilke Couldn't Get Back Her Strength Until She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rochester, Minnesota.—"I had a very serious operation and it seemed as if I could not get my health back after it. I suffered with pain almost constantly. My sister came to help take care of me, and she was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nervousness and a run-down condition. She had me try some of it, and in a very few days' time I began to feel better. In two weeks I hardly knew myself and after taking a couple of bottles more I was up and helping around, and now I am strong and healthy again and am still taking it. It is a pleasure for me to write this to you, and I hope that many other women who are suffering like I was will find out about your medicine. I will give any information I possibly can."—Mrs. JAMES WILKE, 933 E. Center Street, Rochester, Minn.

Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of fifty years of service and thousands of women praise its merit, as does Mrs. Wilke.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.
